Abstract: Politically active in the 1970s whilst a student at Wits University, Emilia Potenza joined the Wits-based organisation Catholic Society (Cathsoc) in 1977, and became involved in political campaigns such as "Free Mandela", housing and removal issues and providing support to pressure groups and political prisoners. In 1980 she joined the National Education Union of South Africa (NEUSA) and campaigned for them on a national level. When NEUSA joined ranks with the newly formed South African Teachers Union in the early 1990s Potenza shifted her focus towards assistance in the formation of a democratic education system in South Africa.

Introduction

Emilia Potenza became politically active in the 1970s whilst a student at Wits University. In 1977 she joined the Wits-based organisation Catholic Society (Cathsoc), and became involved in political campaigns such as "Free Mandela", housing and removal issues and providing support to pressure groups and political prisoners. In 1980, with a diploma in education, she joined the National Education Union of South Africa (NEUSA) and campaigned for them on a national level. When NEUSA joined ranks with the newly formed South African Teachers Union in the early 1990s Potenza shifted her activities towards assistance in the formation of a democratic education system in South Africa.

Notes

The collection documents Emilia Potenza's active role in NEUSA and includes correspondence, reports, newsletters, pamphlets, speeches, journals, minutes of meetings, press releases, articles and newspaper clippings. Postcards and stickers have been placed in the Ephemera Collection (AL2540) and the posters in the Poster Collection (AL2446).
