INSURANCE BROKERS AND CONSULTANTS

A Life Insurance Policy is just a time Yellowed piece of paper with columns of figures and legal phrases, until it is baptized with a widows tears. Then it is a modern smile, Alladin's Lamp, it is food, clothing, shelter, education, peace of mind, comfort, undying love and affection.

It is the sincerest Love Letter ever written by a man to his wife.

" It has been said that a man with a family who dies, without life Assurance, does not die He absconds from his Responsibilities."

"If I had my way, I would write the word 'Insure' over the door of every cottage and upon the blotting book of every public man because I am convinced that, for sacrifices, which are inconceivably small, families can be secured against catastrophies which otherwise would smash them up forever. It is our duty to arrest the ghastly waste, not merely of human happiness but of material health and strength, which follows when, through the death of a breadwinner, the frail boat in which the fortunes of the family are embarked, founders and the women and children are left to struggle helplessly on the dark waters of a friendless world."

COMMENT

The most popular game amongst us is soccer. It draws the biggest crowd and gets the largest "gates". It is the poor man's favourite and enjoys the rich man's patronage. People flock in hundreds to watch interesting games wherever they are played and it acts as the biggest binding force between all communities, races and, may I say, also idealogies.

When people pay admission fees and turn out in large numbers to witness a game, they do so in the hope of satisfying their desire to watch exhibitions of skill and not to see "lame-ducks" in action.

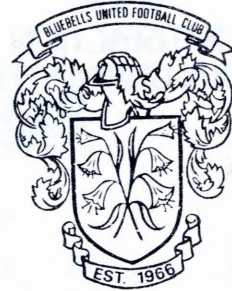

In a game of football it is the goals that count and players must take cognisance of this fact. To get goals, proper training and physical fitness is necessary. It follows that if any player desires to become proficient, a crowd pleaser, he should train himself well and learn the art of entertaining the people through his classic exhibition.

The appreciation of the spectators lies in the natural gifts of the player to manipulate the ball. The way he dribbles offers defence methods of passing, the technique of his ball control play a prominent part in the player's popularity.

There is an abundance of evidence to prove that through sheer neglect to train and equip themselves many promising players have failed to harness the desired energy for the development of the talents and have ceased to earn distinction in the game.

Take for example, the free play of children. When they run, jump, hop or skip it provides movements for real recreation. There is a lesson for the prospective footballer from the pastimes of the children. If such activities are performed by the player it provides a test for the assessment of performance on the field and also for "staying-power" that is necessary to last the full distance of a game.

Luxury Travel

HOW to relax their players? That, for a long time, has worried the officials of AC Milan, who narrowly lost the Italian League to Juventus last season.

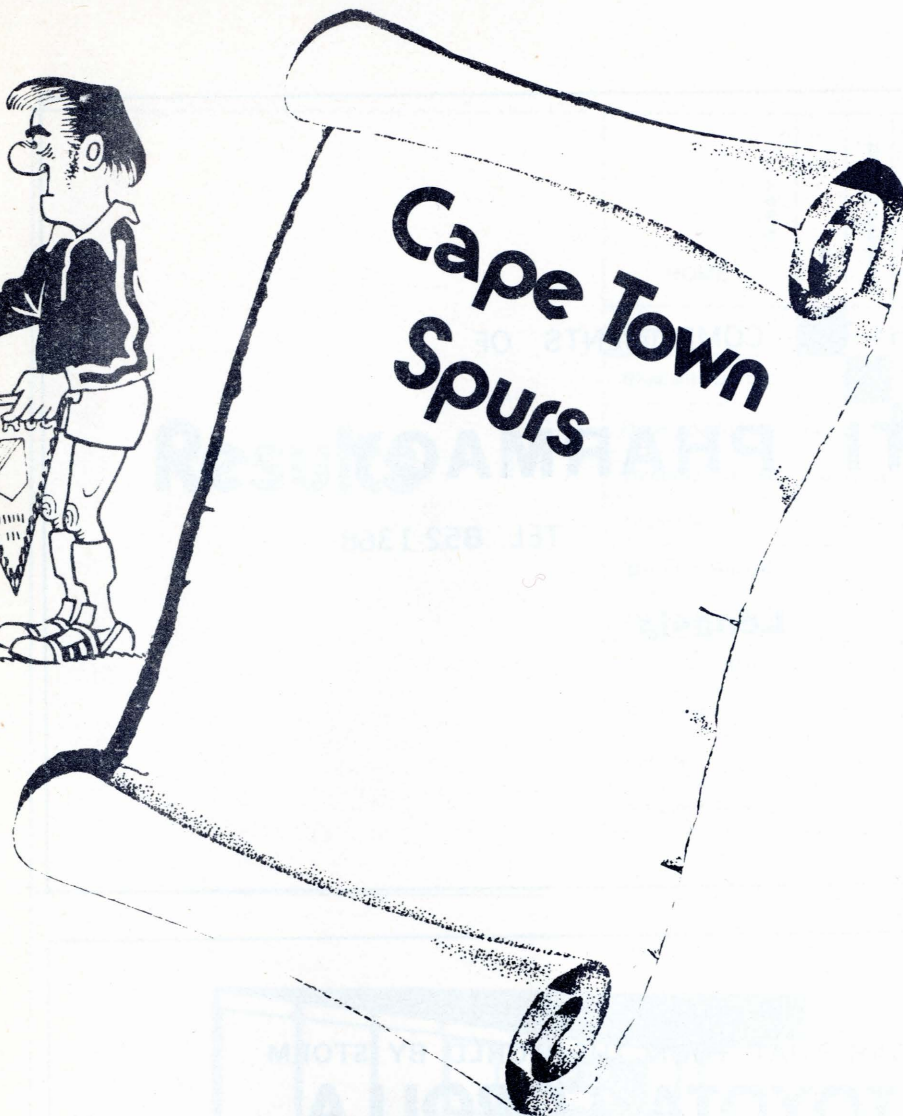

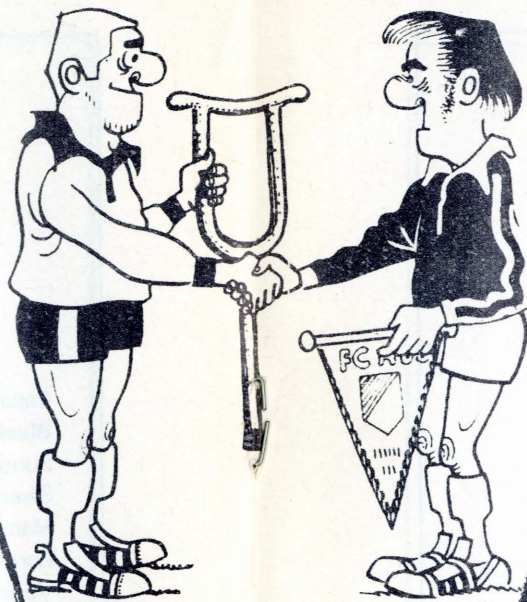

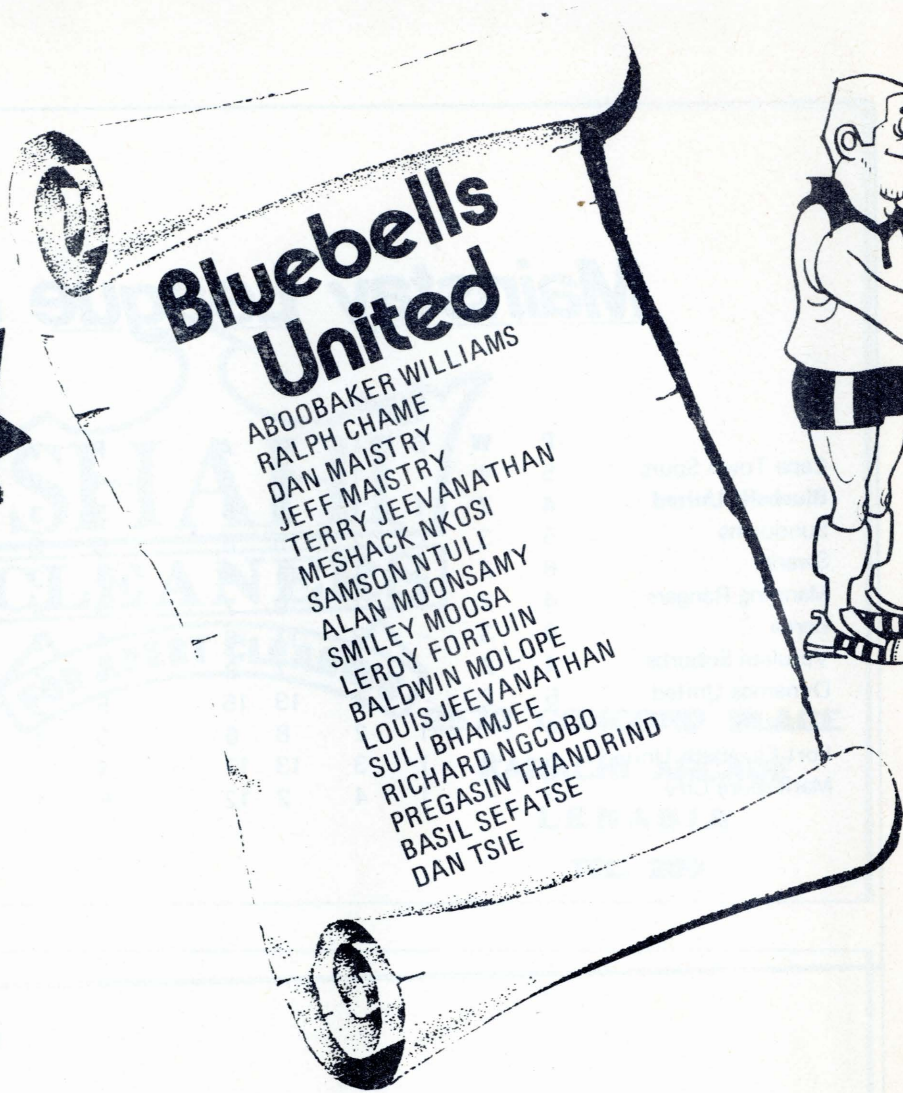

Now they think they have the answer. The club have bought a super-pullman coach with every conceivable luxury. The coach is sound-proofed to cut down outside noise to a whisper. It has television, air conditioning, tables, seats which recline into beds, a fully equipped medical department and a cocktail cabinet for soft drinks.

So this season, if AC Milan are going to be caught napping it may only be inside the coach!

Handy Hill

FOOTBALL is becoming more and more popular in the African countries. So much so that the Independence Stadium in Lusaka, the pride and joy of the Zambian football authorities, was just not big enough for the clash with Nigeria.

The 80,000 ground was crammed hours before the kick-off. But those who could not get in were saved by the geography of the area. The massive 'Humanism Hill' overlooks the ground and an estimated 10,000 fans took advantage and watched the match FREE!

A Fourth Division club signed a tiny midfielder player. He was so short, he had to have turn-ups in his shorts. During the close season he took a job delivering for a dairy firm. They had to put him on condensed milk!

The match had been dull as ditchwater and the crowd were bored into silence.

Then there was a bit of a mix-up and the referee ordered a bounce.

Two opponents lined up, the ref took the ball. Then a voice in the crowd yelled: "Never mind the ball, ref — just bounce the players!"
