

- (d) Last Earnings per Week or per Month must be the actual gross earnings during the last complete week or month before the investigator's visit. There will, in general, be no entry in this column for unemployed persons.
- (e) Investigators must not fill in the total figures at the base of the columns referring to "Income from Earnings", "Other Sources of Income", and "Income of S or S and Sp." These will be filled in by the Editor.

(vii) Dwelling and Occupancy.

- (a) Sub-economic House - A sub-economic house is one which is rented to the occupier at a rent below the economic value of that house. The following are the sub-economic housing townships within the Municipal boundaries of Johannesburg:-

- (1) South Hills (Welfare Park).
- (2) Morris Freeman Township, Bertrams.
- (3) Jan Hofmeyr Township, Jan Hofmeyr.
- (4) Pioneer Township, Glenesk.
- (5) Octavia Hill Flats, Fordsburg.

- (b) Privately Owned House - A dwelling owned or being bought by a single individual and either occupied by the owner or purchaser or in respect of which rent is paid by a tenant to the owner or purchaser of the property. In applying this definition, the following qualification should be taken into account, namely, that such a property must not form part of any subsidised housing scheme and that the purchase of such property has not been made or is not being made in terms of any such scheme.

- (c) A Flat is a dwelling that comprises substantially a horizontal section of a structure and has its own separate entrance either from the street or from a passage or staircase common to itself and at least one other section of the premises, and which has a bathroom and a kitchen (or alternative cooking facilities) which are not common to any other section of the structure, i.e., to any other flat in the structure. Flats may be situated in:-

- (1) A Block of Flats - This is a structure composed of a number of dwellings each of which conforms to the definition of "flat" above.
- (2) Converted House - A house (as defined below) which has been converted in such a way as to comprise two or more dwellings each of which has its own separate entrance and a bathroom and cooking facilities.

(d) A House

- (d) A House is a dwelling which comprises a single structure (with or without outbuildings) or a vertical section of such a structure.
- (1) Detached houses, semi-detached houses, terraced houses, shacks, hovels, "pondokkies", rank as houses.
- (e) A Dwelling is a structure or part of a structure in which human beings dwell, or which is available for such purpose.
- (1) Dwellings may be classified as houses, flats or rooms.
- (2) A dwelling may be occupied by one or more households.
- (f) A Room is a section of a dwelling bounded by walls or ceiling-high partitions, a floor, a ceiling or roof, and used or available for use as sleeping or living quarters.
- (1) Rooms include living rooms, bedrooms, dining-rooms, closed stoeps, and kitchens used as living rooms, and do not include bathrooms, lavatories, kitchens used for cooking only, landings, staircases, passages, and open stoeps and balconies, even when these latter are used for purposes for which a room would normally be required.
- A room(s) may be situated in a house (as defined above), in a flat (as defined above), or in a structure composed of a number of independent sections each of which must conform with the definition of "Room" given above. In each case the bathroom or washing facilities and cooking facilities, if any, will be common to all, or at least some, of the occupiers of the dwelling.
- (g) Furnished Rooms are those containing furniture provided by the lessor of the room for the use of the tenants.
- (h) Unfurnished Rooms are rooms for which a regular periodic payment is made in respect of rent, but which contains no furniture, other than that provided by the lessee.
- (i) Semi-detached House - A dwelling comprising a single structure which is structurally connected by a common wall with an adjacent dwelling.
- (j) Terraced

- (j) Terraced Houses - A series of adjacent dwellings structurally connected with each other but in which each house constitutes an independent dwelling as defined above. If only two such dwellings are attached or connected, each one is termed a semi-detached house. Where more than two are so connected each dwelling is to be described as a terraced house.
- (k) Basement - That section of a dwelling which is below ground or street level.
- (l) Dampness - The criterion of whether a house is to be judged damp or not is purely subjective and will depend on the subject's own valuation of this fact.

In completing the section on "Dwelling and Occupancy", care must be taken to indicate by means of circling the appropriate word in each sub-section where provision is made for the recording of information concerning alternative forms of accommodation or time periods, e.g., flat/room/house.

- (m) Condemned - This section is to be left blank by the investigator and will be filled in by the Editor at a later date.
- (n) Clean, Dirty, Average - The cleanliness or otherwise of a dwelling must be judged in accordance with the investigator's own evaluation of the physical appearance of the dwelling at the time of the investigation, and should be roughly classified as follows: clean, dirty, average.
- (o) Walls - The walls of the dwelling may be built of one of the following types of materials:-
 - (1) Brick.
 - (2) Galvanised iron.
 - (3) Brick and iron.
- (p) Bedroom - This may be defined as a room used for sleeping only.

* Where there is no kitchen, the investigator should state clearly what arrangements are made for meals.

(viii) Rent.

- (a) Rent is a payment made by a tenant to a landlord in consideration of occupancy of a dwelling or part of a dwelling.
 - (1) Rent is customarily reckoned to include payment for local rates, and for a minimum water supply, but not payment for gas or electricity or bond interest or amortization.

(ii) The

- (2) The net rent of the part of the dwelling of a household which has a sub-tenant is the rent paid by that household less the rent paid to it by the sub-tenant. Net rent may, therefore, in certain circumstances be negative.
- (b) Board and Lodging is the amount paid by a lodger to a household in respect of sleeping and eating accommodation.
- (c) Transport - The amounts reflected in this column must be those paid in respect of transport costs to and from work only. Amounts paid for transport for any other purpose are not to be recorded.

Stand No. Wherever possible, the stand number must be recorded. This information will usually be found on the meter card in each dwelling.

(ix) Employment.

- (a) Occupation - An occupation is either that activity from which an earner habitually derives earnings, or is the activity of housekeeping, or of regular attendance at any educational institution. A person not engaged in activities of any of these descriptions is described as unoccupied.
- (1) An earner's occupation consists in doing a particular job, following a particular trade or filling a particular office, within a particular industry, vocation, profession, branch of business or other field of employment. Both the job and the field of employment should be specified in describing the occupation.
- (2) A person may have more than one occupation at one time. Persons who derive income from more than one occupation should be given one line on the schedule for each occupation.
- (3) Where a member of a household is entirely unoccupied, the reason for this non-occupation should, as far as is possible, be entered, e.g., retired, mentally defective. For children too young to attend school, the occupation should be entered as Nil.
- (4) A person who is habitually employed, but who at the time of the investigation is unemployed, should be entered under "Occupation" as "Unemployed", followed by the previous occupation in brackets.

(b) Unemployment

- (b) Unemployment is the condition of an earner who is able and willing to work at his usual job, but is unable to find such occupation.
- (1) A sick person who cannot work at his usual job is by definition not unemployed, and is usually recorded as sick.
- (2) A person who has never had a job is by definition not unemployed, but is usually recorded as of "No Occupation".
- (3) A person who is not seeking work is by definition "Not Unemployed".
- (c) The Name and Address of the Employer are required in confidence so that further enquiries may be made if necessary. The name and address of the employer should be stated as precisely as possible.
- (d) Retirement is a permanent or semi-permanent cessation of regular employment due to ill-health, age, or some other factor.
- (e) Part-time Employment - Employment for only part of a day or part of a week.
- (ix) Physical Condition.
- (a) The investigator must accept the interviewee's own judgment of whether he/she is able to perform the act of shopping, cooking or dressing with ease, with difficulty, with assistance only, or not at all.

When the interviewee's opinion appears to be a deliberate misrepresentation of his/her state of health, the investigator's opinion must be given and this fact must be recorded, together with the reason for so doing.
